Bristol, PA is a place rich with history and tradition. This town has seen boom to bust and back again. The one constant in Bristol has been great neighborhood foods. Mazzanti's Market is one of the staples in Bristol and Lower Bucks County when it comes to famous neighborhood delis. The definition of great American eateries, Mazzanti's is famous for their hoagie – and deservedly so. Mom still runs the register as the son still makes his fantastic hoagie that sells out every night by 6.

This is a HUGE sandwich that is the size of my son Brock. Great bread made by local Italian People's Bakery. It is a hard seeded roll and inside is just simple great quality ingredients. Great tasting sharp provolone, red ripe tomatoes sliced and layered and topped with some of the best Italian ham we have tasted.
